

DAYLO

PUBLISHING & MEDIA

Brooklyn, NY based Daylo enables its users to buy, sell and exchange all kinds of services in their area. Craigslist going niche, and a perfect new business idea for a free agent world.

 Brooklyn, NY based Daylo enables its users to buy, sell and exchange all kinds of services in their area. Think Craigslist focusing exclusively on empowering buyers of immediate and ultra specific service needs, from in-home personal chefs to pet shepherds to film grips. And as it's all about trust and relevance when it comes to finding the right service, Daylo incorporates personal profiles, portfolios and ratings of its users. Now available in 407 US neighborhoods, with 1508 members on board, the company expects 'to be worldwide soon' according to their website. Which means they're going to need help. And partners. And some healthy competition. In a world full of Free Agents, Solopreneurs, Freelancers, and a renewed interest in 'Small is the new Big', Springwise thinks this is a winner.

8th July 2005

Website: www.daylo.com/