

Drone controller | Photo source Jonathan Lumpel on Unsplash

Innovation > Computing & Tech > Startup revolutionises drone control interface

STARTUP REVOLUTIONISES DRONE CONTROL INTERFACE

COMPUTING & TECH

The ability to control a drone with just one hand could be a reality, thanks to an Australian startup.

Register for full access

Our library content is no longer freely available. Please register to gain access to more than 12,000 innovations, updated daily. Our content is global in scope and covers solutions to the world's biggest challenges across 18 sectors.

REGISTER

SIGN IN

22nd January 2019

Email: team@tekuma.tech

Website: www.tekuma.tech

Contact: team@tekuma.tech

Download PDF

Takeaway:

SIGN IN

use more accessible and easy to learn could open up such technology to a wider audience. This could then in turn lead to further creation of drone accessories or even further development with the drones themselves. Larger markets mean more money and potential for future progress. What exciting futures could be in store for the drone industry?